TABLE SHELF

The personalised working space might not be the same in the future, since the office space per person can be expected reduced. This development is the result of the future working environment, in which companies must be rethinking the flexible and shareable working spaces.

The way in which companies can expand the individual space per employee, - where the personal space is maintained, is by decorating the working environment with multi functional objects such as this table shelf. The shelf can easily be mounted to the preferred surface with two of the collections multi clamps.

The shelf is lifted 40 mm above the top of the desk, which provide security to the stored objects placed on the table. Furthermore, the shelf has a edge measuring 40 mm, which not only provide a delimiting feeling for the employee at the table, but is also supporting the design-philosophy of the entire collection. The table shelf has a preferable size, which makes it possible to use the shelf at the working environment, but is also recommendable for home offices.
